Doria Loses Most of Power, Still Could be Threat to U. S.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Hurricane Beulah a growing killer on a slow prowl of the warm Gulf of Mexico waters, derous 12 miles an hour, picking up muscle from the warm Gulf of Mexico waters.

The Weather Bureau warned that Beulah was an increasing threat to the coast.

The big storm increased its force to 115-mile-an-hour winds during the mid-morning hours The Texas coast remained under a hurricane watch but forecasters said a full-fledged warning might come soon for the South coastal regions.

Beulah still could strike a deadly blow at any point on the Texas Gulf coastline, the Weather Bureau said.

The offshore oil rigs operating in the rich fields off the Gulf Coast began battenning down and evacuating rig workers as Beulah neared.

A spokesman for Continental Oil Co. said waves up to 15 feet were expected Tuesday off the Louisiana coast, some 1,000 miles from Beulah's center.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau warned Beulah probably would change to a more northerly course. There was no indication that the sprawling storm would lose any strength as it headed toward land.

As the storm pointed toward Brownsville citrus growers continued harvesting a multi-million-dollar crop of oranges and grapefruits. A hurricane would do many millions of dollars worth of damage if it hit the loaded trees, growers said.

Jets Hit 7 Miles From Red China

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force F4 Phantoms hit a high-way bridge just one minute away—at their super sonic speeds—from Red China's border Sunday in the war's closest strike yet to the border.

The pilots said their bombs knocked out the center span of the That Khe highway bridge seven miles from China and 92 miles north-northeast of Hanoi.

The closest previous raid to China's border was 10 miles away Aug. 13.

Navy pilots flew follow-up missions against three targets inside Hanoi, apparently trying to cut rail and road arteries carrying supplies out of the North Vietnamese port city to Communist troops fighting in South Vietnam.

Hit Other Targets

Skyhawk jets unloaded 500-, 1,000- and 2,000-pound bombs on a railroad and highway bridge just one mile west of the city's center. They also hit a rail yard 1.7 miles from the center and a warehouse complex 1.3 miles from its center. Those targets were hit for the first time a week ago.

Clearing weather over the North enabled Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots to fly 109 missions, most directed against targets in the heavily defended area around Hanoi and Haiphong.

One plane was reported lost. The strikes emphasized the air war policy of keeping maximum pressure on Hanoi during the remaining three or four weeks of favorable weather before the monsoons.

B52s Unload

In and slightly north of the demilitarized zone that separates the two Vietnams, high-altitude B52 bombers unloaded more than 450,000 pounds of bombs in three sweeps over suspected Red infiltration sites.

41 Killed in Turkey

Rioting Follows Fight At Soccer Stadium

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Rioting broke out in the central city of Sivas today over a soccer match that resulted in 41 deaths in a stadium riot Sunday in Kayseri.

Police reported screaming mobs in Sivas burned down sex stores and a hotel owned by residents of Kayseri. The two cities are 125 miles apart.

Provincial police called in the local army garrison to put down the riot.

In the Sunday riot fans from Sivas objected to a home team goal in the soccer game at Kayseri Stadium. Stones were thrown and a stampede toward the exits broke out.

Police in Sivas could not estimate the size of the mob, saying that most of the dead in the Sunday riot were soccer fans from Sivas.

An estimated 5,000 Sivas fans had traveled to Kayseri for the minor league soccer game between the two cities.

No players or referees in the minor league match between Sivas and Kayseri were hurt.

Officials said the toll of injured stood at 63, six in serious condition. Unofficial tallies, however, put the number of fatalities at more than 50 and that of injured in the hundreds.

The state minister in charge of sports affairs threatened to suspend all games in that league if necessary and take other stringent measures to prevent more riots.

Minister of Interior Faruk Sukan and Health Minister Dr. Ali Ozkan were heading an extensive investigation of the events which broke out during the match.

President Cevdet Sunday called on the peoples of both Kayseri and Sivas, 100 miles north and east of here, to cooperate with officials to "erase the saddening memory" of the events.

Prime Minister Suleyman Demirel, just back from an official visit to Romania, postponed his trip to the Soviet Union. He was to leave today but will stay to discuss the rioting group of spectators, protesting at an emergency Cabinet meeting today.

Officials would not confirm press reports that knives and pistols were used by the mob that some fans from Sivas came to the stadium carrying bags filled with stones.

Spectators being stoned tried to reach shelter. The rush became a stampede toward closed gates.

In another part of the stadium, a free-for-all fight broke out. Scores of spectators were crushed against a main gate which was opening inward.

Others, mostly teen-agers, were trampled underfoot.

Fulbright's Ideas on President Inconsistent

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright now anxious to curb the president's power in foreign affairs, is getting a little hard to follow, if your memory is good. His own memory on American wars sounds hazy.

In 1961, in a speech which got little attention, Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat and chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, complained the president had too many restraints on him in foreign affairs.

"We have hobbled the president by too niggardly a grant of power," he said.

He raised a question about what the Constitution put together in 1787 says about the separation of powers between president and Congress in foreign affairs.

All it really says is that while Congress alone has the authority to declare war, the president is commander in chief of the armed forces and can make treaties with the 'advice and consent' of the Senate if two-thirds agree.

Complexities
The founding Fathers didn't know much about foreign affairs and couldn't anticipate the complexities to come. For instance, instead of going through as the formality and delay of getting Senate approval on a treaty, the presidents have very often made simple agreements with other powers.

The source of an effective foreign policy under our system is presidential power," Fulbright said. He wondered whether it wasn't time for Congress to overhaul the Constitution's 18th century procedures on foreign policy.

Now, in a statement copyrighted by Newsday, a New York newspaper, he complains that the power of Congress in foreign policy has been diminishing throughout this century.

He wants Congress to reassert its authority.

"Retreat From World"
In 1954 Sen. John W. Bricker, R-Ohio, tried to cut the president's power by proposing a constitutional amendment requiring congressional approval by both Houses for treaties and executive agreements.

Fulbright voted against it, saying it was a "retreat from the world."

This summer Fulbright proposed and built his Newsday piece around it — this piece was a re-write of a speech he made July 19 — that the Senate in the Gulf of Tonkin in 1964 passed a resolution that Congress Johnson asked Congress to pass a resolution approving his use of the armed forces in Vietnam to stop aggression if necessary.

Both houses approved overwhelmingly. Fulbright was in charge of getting the resolution through and when asked if he thought it gave the president enough authority to get into a war in Vietnam, he said that was how he interpreted it. Now he says he didn't realize the full significance of the Tonkin Gulf resolution.

Making War
In the Newsday piece Fulbright complained that in this century presidents have been making war without a declaration by Congress. But he is against rescinding the Gulf of Tonkin resolution.

He forgot something in the Newsday statement. He said the exclusive authority for Congress to initiate war was substantially respected in the 19th century.

But there were two undeclared wars in the 19th century and one in the 18th. From 1798 to 1800 this country was in an undeclared naval war with France, from 1801 to 1805 and again in 1815 this country was at war with the pirates of Tripoli and the Barbary Coast.

approve not only treaties but executive agreements and commitments made by the president.

This is completely foggy since the resolution doesn't say whether the Senate or both House and Senate should be given such authority in foreign affairs but it goes way beyond the simple "advice and consent" requirement on treaties alone in the Constitution.

If the Senate approved, Johnson would probably ignore it since a resolution doesn't have the effect of law. If he obeyed it, it would truly hobble him.

Endorsed Force
In 1961, the day before making his complaint that the president didn't have enough power, Fulbright came away from seeing President John F. Kennedy at the White House, saying he endorsed the use of U.S. military forces — if considered necessary — to prevent South Vietnam from being overrun by the Communists.

But now Fulbright, one of the Senate's "doves" on the war in Vietnam, is Johnson's most constant critic on that conflict. After Vietnam is Johnson's most composed and built his Newsday piece around it — this piece was a re-write of a speech he made July 19 — that the Senate in the Gulf of Tonkin in 1964 passed a resolution that Congress Johnson asked Congress to pass a resolution approving his use of

Pre-World War I Veterans Want Service Benefits

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Mexican border campaign veterans have informed the Veterans Advisory Commission they are looking for recognition and wartime benefits after 51 years.

A group of the pre-World War I veterans told a hearing of the commission Sunday that their service has been misclassified as peacetime service.

A spokesman for the group said border duty by National Guardsmen in 1916 resulted from an undeclared war similar to U.S. participation in Korea and Vietnam.

The 11-member commission conducting the eighth in a series of 10 hearings, heard from about 30 veterans groups during the weekend.

Training Standards for Policemen

Gov. Warren Knowles has listed the proposal to create statewide law enforcement training standards and to provide state financing to reach that goal as among the items which should be selected for favorable action from the mountain of pending bills when the Legislature returns from its recess in October. Events of the past summer gave added weight to the governor's request.

The bill would create a 12-member Law Enforcement Standards Council, 10 members to be appointed by the governor and the other two being the attorney general and the agent in charge of the Milwaukee FBI office. The council would establish standards for employment of police officers, certify officers for employment, approve training courses, and provide that all policemen appointed after Aug. 1, 1968, complete an approved training course. To this end, the state would provide one-half of an officer's pay and school expenses during this required training period.

While the proposal has its basis in findings of the Commission on Law Enforcement and Crime named by the governor two years ago, it will have tough going in the Legislature because of traditional attitudes against a state police system and because of lack of interest of small communities. But the idea has the backing of ranking municipal police officers in the state and it will strengthen existing training programs for new policemen.

Before its recess, the Legislature rushed through a bill which authorizes local and county law enforcement agencies to be assigned to jurisdictions beyond their boundaries, a response to worries which were expressed this summer in resort areas like Door County where the county cannot be expected to support a police force of a size to deal with possible summer problems. After the violence in Milwaukee, Mayor Henry Maier called for state financial contributions to local police departments.

These topics illustrate a new responsibility of the state in the law enforcement field growing from among other things, the mobility of the population including those intent on crime or violence. Passage of the law enforcement standards and training bill will be one step toward improving statewide law enforcement.

The Need for Gun Control Laws

The last edition of The American Rifleman, official publication of the National Rifle Association, approaches the ridiculous in its hysteria against proposed federal gun control legislation. In an editorial in its September issue, the publication ties the tradition of David's slingshot attack on Goliath to the marksmanship training given Israeli youngsters and concludes that this is the sole reason the Israeli army won so quickly in its recent war with Egypt and its cohorts. The implication is clear in the editorial that gun control legislation in this country would wreck any chances we might have for winning a war.

The editorial ignores the basic question which more and more Americans are asking: Does the nation need some form of regulation of firearms to alleviate if not eliminate the problems caused by their indiscriminate sale? The answer has nothing to do with whether David slew Goliath, how and why the Israeli army won a quick victory, or that such controls would shatter the constitutional right of the people to bear arms.

The need for controls has been emphasized by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, in the September issue of the FBI bulletin. He wrote:

There is no doubt in my mind that the easy accessibility of firearms is responsible for many killings, both impulse and premeditated. He continued that the proposed legislation in Congress presents no great problem to the individual in requiring all guns to be registered if the owner has nothing to hide and if he is a law-abiding citizen. He agrees with the major provisions of the proposed legislation when he says: "I think mail order firearm purchases should be banned, interstate transportation of firearms controlled and local registration of weapons required and enforced."

The indiscriminate traffic of firearms in this country is scandalous. The Congress has been dithering around with control legislation for some time but has taken no action mainly because groups such as the National Rifle Association have mounted an all-out campaign against any controls whatsoever. There is evidence, however, that many citizens across the country are becoming more and more worried about the lack of gun regulation and that they are making their views known to their congressmen that something must be done. In the words of Mr. Hoover:

We have reached the point where the time for debate is past, the time for action is here. Strong measures must be taken and promptly to protect the public.

Rising College Costs

Parents of college students and the students themselves do not need to be told that the cost of a college education is constantly rising. And according to estimates, the end of the spiral is nowhere in sight.

Overall, the increase this year for tuition costs alone will range from $47 to $167. This may not sound like a lot but in addition, the overall increase in the cost of living means jumps in dormitory and food charges, book and other material costs and clothing.

State schools average $992 in tuition charges for in-state students while some private colleges are as high as $3,800 for tuition plus room and board. Currently, Harvard charges $2,000 for tuition but one source estimates that it will go to $5,000 by 1978. And the extra expense for clothes now estimated at $700 to $800 a year is also expected to rise.

But so far, the added costs have not meant a noticeable cut back in enrollments. Instead, they continue to go up. The National Geographic Society estimates that 6,541,000 people in the United States will register for credit courses in institutions of higher learning this fall. And many of them will be veterans coming in under the new GI bill.

There is, of course, outside money available. Half a million students will be helped by the National Defense Loan program and some 1,600 of the nation's 2,200 colleges and universities participate in at least one federally supported program. Many states have their own loan arrangements and some banks have liberal policies. A White House advisory panel on the costs of education proposed that a Federal Educational Opportunity Bank be set up from which a student could borrow for all educational needs. In return, he would pledge to pay the government annually one per cent of his salary for the thirty years after graduation.

There are some other such plans. In some areas, for instance, education students who borrow for college costs may write off a percentage of the debt for each year they teach within the state. Some private institutions have similar programs for teachers who want to go on in graduate work.

Undoubtedly, federal and state programs to meet college costs are going to grow as the costs themselves go up. A private survey some time ago indicated that most families are not making sufficient allowances for the educational costs of their children at the college level. And in fact, as everything rises, it's a pretty difficult thing to do for the average family.

Don't the fools know there's a war on?

Kraft Writes

Arab Governments Too Weak To Settle Middle East Problems

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

BEIRUT — The opening of the United Nations General Assembly in New York this week brings once again to the surface the vexed diplomatic of Israel and the Arab states. And after visits on both sides, the impression is that the deadlock has never been deep.

Kraft

For political power through out the Near East still lies with men in decline whose basic approach has been diametrically compromised. In Israel, as I indicated in a preceding column, Prime Minister Levi Eshkol has been all but overtaken by younger and harder men. In the Arab states, the governments in office are even weaker. In too weak to make the kind of concessions required for settlement by mutual accord.

Consider, for instance, the position of the Arab governments most deeply embroiled. The Jordan of King Hussein has lost the better part of its land to Israel, the latter surrounded by a continuing flow of refugees. And there is a potential occupying force of 10,000 Iraqi troops in Jordan in so-called "liberation" camps.

In Egypt, Colonel Nasser's rule has undoubtedly been challenged, inside the Egyptian army. This is why Colonel Nasser was obliged to put under arrest his old comrade in arms, and relative by marriage, Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer.

In Syria, the left-wing government of President Nezdine El Atassi has had to beat back an even more militant coup which apparently wants to rid the Arab world of Islam.

One of these would be revolutionaries in Damascus has been reliably quoted to me as saying: "Since that foul Mohammed came into the world, we have made no progress either in time or in space."

The recent rumblings in Damascus as that citation indicates, and in Cairo have perhaps not been too serious. But neither are they the end of the story of take-over bids.

On the contrary, the regimes in Jordan, Egypt and Syria remain vulnerable. The dissidents are apparently only waiting in the wings for the present governments to come to terms with Israel. At that point with the burden of defeat resting on the shoulders of the uns, the serious opposition will make its move.

With that handwriting on the wall, the present Arab governments have no interest in settlement with Israel. And despite all the talk of moderation stimulated by the recent summit meeting of Arab leaders at Khartoum, they are not moving in the direction of an accord.

On the contrary, they are trying to avoid the need for settlement. They are trying to do or get others to undo the results of the June war so that they will not have to shoulder the burden of defeat. And that is what all the great diplomatic activity, the blackening of the skies with Arab ministers and monarchs flying to and fro in the past few weeks has been all about.

END YEMEN FIGHTING

As a first step, there has been an effort to protect the exposed flanks of the present governments by taking on the protective coloring on pan-Arabism. After Khartoum and the agreement to end the fighting in Yemen, it is much harder for some Arab states to accuse others of letting down the side.

As a second step, there is the invocation of the non-aligned countries of Africa, Asia and Latin America as a lever for winning more sympathetic identification from the United States and Russia together. This is why Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia has come to the fore with a peace plan that is probably the last dying gasp of the old world.

The object of this exercise is to get the United States and the Soviet Union to put pressure on Israel for withdrawal from territories taken in June. In return, the Arab states would yield virtually nothing. And the old plan for mutual settlement would not even be a consideration of what probably the world's most inflammable bomb. They would be home free.

Given the weakness of Arab governments, even their near certain death in the event of settlement, it is hard to see how Arab leaders now in office would have taken a different course. But to say that is only to say that trying to foster agreement in the Middle East just now is a mug's game.

The constructive possibilities at this time in other words do not lie in the direction of settlement by mutual accord. They lie in useful unilateral action. Of these, as I have indicated before, by far the most important is the possibility of action by Israel to set up an autonomous Palestinian-Arab state on the west bank of the Jordan. To me anyway, there lies the only hope for a new departure in what is otherwise a situation of total and unbreakable deadlock.

Wisconsin Report

Kellett Gives Press Credit for Helping With Reorganization

BY W. R. KELLETT

MENASHA

Dear John,

I am happy to be invited to visit with your wide readership and particularly in reference to my initial exposure to our democratic legislative process. It was a strange, new and rewarding experience and the only regret of our committee is that more citizens — men from business and industry — could not have shared with us this great opportunity to learn and better understand our state government.

Kellett

The state's problems are increasingly complicated and technical and there are few simple, non-controversial answers. The Bipartisan task group committees of legislators and citizens however appear to be an aid to the present facilities of our elected representatives.

Although we are sympathetic to the need most of us in this highly competitive world are obliged to keep our nose close to the business grindstone. Consequently, there is an understandable reluctance on the part of the businessman to volunteer his talents and experience — especially if he has not been invited — and to be truly effective, he must be invited by governor, Legislature or responsible administrator. But this source of talent and experience can and should be tapped.

One way to do this is to attract, recruit and organize the large pool of retired business industry and professional leaders in this state. We must also request business and industry to make available skill manpower on a temporary loan basis. This resource can be the nucleus of future task forces.

SUPPORT NEEDED

The heavy burden of developing effective new approaches to tackle today's tough governmental problems rests with our elected representatives who must be supported in this effort by a high quality staff and capable agency administrators. While those who choose to run for office may be dedicated people, there just isn't enough time, talent and research facilities to cope with all the factors involved. Citizens groups properly selected and led can augment the normal forces of government while at the same time providing new eyes to look at the problem.

To further complicate these major legislative tasks that face us — whether it is reorganization of state government, the problem of fair distribution of state tax revenue to local government, better coordination of law enforcement — there is often the enticement of federal aids and the spectre of federal influence.

Today's guest column is in the form of a letter to John Wyngaard, Madison correspondent, from W. R. Kellett, chairman of the State Government Reorganization Commission which recently pushed through the Legislature the most comprehensive state reorganization bill in Wisconsin history.

Refrainably, the taxpayer's best interest is sometimes neglected as very important issues — such as highway safety — become extremely partisan. This is what kills me, John!

I believe strongly in the two party system and we must preserve its advantages. But when recommendations of well selected bipartisan task committees fail to get legislative approval, it is largely because of the strategic interests of party leadership. To cope with this political factor, there is only one answer and that is to go to the grass roots. With your help, this we learned to do.

PRESS HELPED

The reorganization bill was so comprehensive and technical the general public naturally was not well informed and to a large extent not interested. Here is where the press came to our rescue! Public hearings do serve the private interests — and their voices speak loud and clear, but the legislator must sort out the conflict between the values to the taxpayer and those of special interests.

The people of Wisconsin are greatly indebted to you and your colleagues for your scholarly political analysis and splendid reporting.

The citizens who worked with me with great dedication and some sacrifice developed a healthy understanding and respect for the unique problems of state government and the elected officials and career employees who must deal with them.

Conversely, state government personnel learned new approaches to the management of public affairs. Political leaders and professional government employees bear a heavy responsibility which I am confident they will fulfill with distinction.

The real measure of the success of our task forces must await future serious and critical review. If it proves that we have established an improved basis of the operation of state government, then the tradition of citizen participation in the affairs of our great state will be enhanced. We believe we are on that target.

Act of Giving Should Be Its Own Reward

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

At lunch the other day, a friend of mine was grumbling because a man for whom he had done a good turn at considerable inconvenience to himself hadn't even bothered to thank him.

Harris

His complaint reminded me about the remark of Judge Samuel Liebowitz, the former criminal lawyer who saved 78 men from the electric chair. "Not one of these men," Liebowitz later said, "ever sent me a Christmas card."

When Aristotle was rebuked for giving alms to an old reprobate who didn't even thank him, he answered: "I did not give it to the man — I gave it to humanity."

This is the only sensible attitude to take toward acts of generosity. "Every time I fill a vacant office," sighed Louis XIV, "I make 10 malcontents and one ingrate."

It is depressingly true that the people for whom we do favors rarely are as grateful as we expect them to be. The solution is not to stop doing favors, but to stop doing them for the sake of the individual.

Our emotional structure is so sensitive that we are more likely to resent a favor we need than to appreciate it. This explains why underdeveloped countries seem to scorn American benevolence as much as they require American aid. It cripples their dignity to admit they need to be helped to their feet.

Gratitude is among the noblest of human virtues because it is among the rarest. Most of us cannot afford to feel obligated toward another, and so, as time passes, we find reasons for depreciating the act of generosity and thus put ourselves in a more favorable light.

The act of giving ought to be its own reward and its own sufficient pleasure when it is not when we expect to be honored for it, we are invariably disappointed. Yet our motive in giving is often as impure as another's motive in taking.

Aristotle could not be disillusioned because he did not expect the beggar to act any better than he could. He gave to make himself a better person, not to improve the beggar's character. This is why there remains some difference between Aristotle and us.

Radical Speaker in Appleton

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Post for Sept. 19, 1867.

Leo Miller, the well known speaker, addressed a meeting of spiritualists in Leeder Smith's Park last Sunday afternoon. The theme of his discourse was "The New Dispensation."

The same gentleman spoke at Adkins Hall to a large audience on Monday evening on the State of the Country.

He took radical ground throughout, defending Congress and contrasting their patriotic record with that of Andrew Johnson, the damnable. He was listened to with eagerness and attention and at the close of his remarks a vote of thanks was tendered him.

Two unmasked guerrillas escaped with about $2,200 in cash in a holdup at the Rio Theater a few minutes before 10 o'clock last night. The well-dressed robbers made their getaway through the front entrance after tying the hand and foot Stanley Gross, the manager; Hayden Owen, assistant manager; and Miss Rosemary Hopkins, the cashier.

CARROLLTON, Mo. (AP) — Sixteen years ago, Mrs. Albert Ward Jr. lost her diamond wedding ring in the yard of some neighbors. After searching unsuccessfully, she gave up, but recently, armed with a metal detecting device, she decided to try again. The ring was found about three inches below the surface in excellent condition.

Burglar Saves Stamps

Pitts and Grabowski

From The Milwaukee Journal

The sports headline read: "Pitts and Grabowski." The story went on to say: "Coach Vince Lombardi said fullback Jim Grabowski, who was Green Bay's leading blocker in the preseason with a five yard average, will be called to run in tandem with fullback Elmer Pitts, a seven year pro who had the second best rushing average of the exhibition season."

Without saying so, because it is taken for granted, the coach obviously picked the two men because he thought they would make the best combination in a game that has been defined as "controlled violence." They were picked strictly on their merits.

The story did not mention that Pitts is a Negro, not that Grabowski is of Polish extraction, because that was beside the point.

GM Announces $110 Boost in Prices on Autos

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors today became the second auto company to boost prices of its 1968 cars as it announced the new line would carry sticker prices averaging $110 higher than a year ago.

For the second year in a row, General Motors—giant of the auto industry—came up with a price increase smaller than that posted by a major competitor.

Chrysler last week led off the industry price parade by disclosing its 1968 cars would average $133, or 4.6 per cent, above 1967 price tags.

Ford and American Motors have not listed new prices yet.

GM's cost analysts figured its price increase at 3.6 per cent over 1967 prices.

Sticker prices include federal excise taxes and dealer handling charges but not freight or local taxes.

'Recognize Costs'

GM said its higher price tags "recognize current material prices and payroll costs." It made no mention of possible increases in its labor costs as a result of current negotiations with the United Auto Workers.

GM said that $61 of the $110 increase in sticker prices reflected costs of two items, optional in 1967 models but standard in the new cars in compliance with federal law.

These are the exhaust emission control device, designed to cut down on auto exhaust pollution, and center seat belts.

GM added, "In addition, certain new features, principally safety-related product improvements not available in 1967, have also been included on all 1968 cars."

The latter group, GM said, include improved interior protection by added padding and an improved windshield wiper system.

west side of the 6,288-foot mountain in the center of the Presidential Range of the White Mountains.

The descent is usually made at four miles an hour with the locomotive in front of the one passenger car backing down.

A passenger, Bertrand Croteau, 32, of Thornton said that when the train reached the first switch Sunday "the locomotive began to shake and just fell off the road."

He said the passenger car began rolling free "and the brakeman tried to put on the brakes. We went about 500 feet and then we went off the tracks."

He said he was thrown through a window and "buried under a pile of bodies."

Ralph Este, a technician at the transmitter on top of the mountain for WMTM-TV of Poland Springs, Maine, said the engine jumped the track at a point where there is a spur track.

He said the passenger car derailed at a shallow curve just before the track plunges down the steepest incline of the railway, a section called Jacob's Ladder that has a grade angle of 37.41 per cent.

The passenger car was made of aluminum and reportedly was one of the railway's newer ones.

Hurt in Crash 5 Years Ago Man Dies of Injuries

WHITEHALL (AP) — Jens Klavestad, 70, a former Trempealeau County highway commissioner hospitalized more than five years following an automobile accident, died Sunday.

Klavestad was riding in a car that left Highway 93 north of Eleva in Eau Claire County Jan. 16, 1962 and rolled down a steep embankment. He suffered spinal injuries which resulted in paralysis and kept him bedridden until his death.

Klavestad, a native of Norway, formerly resided at Strum and had served both as a member of the Trempealeau County Board and, for 16 years, as county highway commissioner.

He is survived by his widow and a son, LeRoy, of Salem, Wis.

Vladimir Tkachenko, 25-year-old Soviet physicist, buries his face in his hands in an ambulance at Heathrow airport, London, Saturday, after Scotland Yard detectives wrestled with personnel aboard a departing Soviet airliner to free him. Tkachenko Found to be Ailing Physicist Turned Over to Soviets

BY EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Vladimir K. Tkachenko, 25 — central figure in a British-Soviet tug of war—was returned to the Russians today, apparently of his own free will.

Britain earlier had charged he was drugged and kidnapped by Russians Saturday. British police pulled him off a Moscow-bound airliner.

Looking dazed, the young physicist was hurried into the Soviet Embassy past a crowd of reporters and photographers, who were not given a chance to question the scientist.

Medical Advice

In surrendering Tkachenko to his countrymen, the British government said: "In accordance with medical advice and his own wishes now freely expressed, he is going to the Soviet Embassy."

British secret service agents and police plucked Tkachenko off a Soviet airliner on Saturday and, with Soviet officials protesting, rushed him to a secret hiding place.

"I don't know why. You can draw your own conclusions," Rogov replied.

At a Scottish airport Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko—on his way from Moscow to New York—stopped over for 90 minutes to listen to a report from the Soviet charge d'affaires, Vladilen Vashev.

During their talks, news of Tkachenko's release was telephoned to Vashev.

Incident 'Settled'

Gromyko told newsmen: "This incident was handled by our charge d'affaires. I have been informed it is settled."

To reporters, Vashev said: "Mr. Gromyko is satisfied that the whole thing is over. As far as I'm concerned, it's over, too. As an ill man, Dr. Tkachenko should be allowed to undergo treatment at home in family surroundings with his closest friends and relatives. I think this is the best way to

Ho Called 'Conciliatory' Johnson Accused of Preventing Talks

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — An American journalist who visited Hanoi says a promising chance for peace talks on the war in Vietnam was personally scuttled by President Johnson.

Harry S. Ashmore, Pulitzer Prize-winning former editor of the Arkansas Gazette, visited Hanoi last January with Editor William C. Baggs of the Miami, Fla., News.

Ashmore said he and Baggs visited with Ho Chi Minh for two hours, and found the North Vietnamese premier "deliberately conciliatory and . . . He seemed prepared to consider a specific proposal based on a formula for mutual de-escalation."

"Ho had understood," Ashmore said, "that we would report our conversation to the State Department, and expected some response, since he had made arrangements to have any further message sent directly to him."

Letter Drafted

The response to Ho Chi Minh's attitude, Ashmore said, was a letter drafted by himself and Baggs in collaboration with William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for East Asian and Pacific affairs.

Ashmore said the letter reduced U.S. demands to "some reciprocal restraint" as a condition for a bombing halt prior to negotiations.

Despite this, President Johnson dispatched an uncompromising personal message to Ho Chi Minh, dated three days before the Ashmore-Baggs letter, Ashmore said.

State Department officials, including Bundy, declined to comment.

Johnson's letter, Ashmore said, set forth "the most stringent demands yet made for advance assurance that Hanoi would halt all infiltration of troops to the South."

Thus, Ashmore said, Johnson "effectively and brutally cancelled" the peace effort, nullifying the letter that was sent last Feb. 5.

Center Magazine

Ashmore's charges were contained in an article in the first issue of Center Magazine, a new publication of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, of which Ashmore is now executive vice president.

In Miami, Baggs said "The events Ashmore recorded are precisely correct as I recall them. There's lots more that he hasn't said. I'm going to say that such discussions might cover the whole range of topics relevant to a peaceful settlement. They reiterated that the Geneva accords might be the framework for a peaceful solution."

"They expressed particular interest in your suggestion that private talks could begin provided the U.S. stopped bombing your country and ceased introducing additional U.S. troops into Vietnam."

"They expressed the opinion that some reciprocal restraint to indicate that neither side intended to use the occasion of the talks for military advantage would provide tangible evidence of the good faith of all parties in the prospects for a negotiated settlement."

The Johnson letter, Ashmore said, was transmitted through diplomatic channels via Moscow, and the timing made it certain the tough message reached Hanoi first.

In an article appearing in today's Miami News, Baggs wrote that "the plan fact is that Ho has written, and that he said 'In our several discussions was conciliatory, as Ashmore with senior officials of the State Department, they emphasized that talks to end the war could begin once the bombing of his country had stopped'."

Ashmore said his letter's key passages were:

"In our several discussions was conciliatory, as Ashmore with senior officials of the State Department, they emphasized that talks to end the war could begin once the bombing of his country had stopped'."

The Ashmore-Baggs letter, said the Miami editor said, "expressed the softest position our government had taken on terms to end the war."

"About the same time, unknown to us, the President was drafting a letter to Ho Chi Minh. His letter was much tougher," Baggs added.

"The President's letter became public information and the New York Times commented that its language was designed to convey a hardening of the U.S. position."

"Why the President selected that time to write such a message to Ho is not known to Ashmore or me. However, his letter certainly did not encourage the development of conversations to initiate private talks."

Baggs added, "The existing authorities, the White House and the State Department, asked us to lie doggo in the weeds and we did. They asked us to have a minimum public exposure."

Police Still Follow Leads In Valerie Percy Murder

KENILWORTH, Ill. (AP) — A year ago Saturday, Valerie Percy, 21, stood smiling at her father's side, listening to him campaign for the U.S. Senate and devoting her time and talents to his success.

Two days later the 21-year-old blonde twin daughter of Charles Percy lay on her blood-soaked pillow, battered to death in the $200,000 mansion which sprawls on a bluff above Lake Michigan in Kenilworth, an elite community in Chicago's suburban North Shore area.

The man who crept up the circular stairs to kill Valerie Percy in the cold dawn of Sunday, Sept. 18, carried a glass cutter, a flashlight, a double-edge knife and an arrow-shaped piece of metal.

He plunged the knife into the girl's head and chest 10 times and the piece of metal crushed her skull.

Neither the killer nor his tools have been found.

"He left us very little, other than a body," says a stalemated detective who has lived with the unsolved murder file for a year.

The body and the unknown killer, whose identity was shrouded by darkness, were discovered by the victim's stepmother, Percy's second wife, Lorraine, 37.

She described being awakened by a moaning sound.

"I walked down the hall toward the girls' rooms. I saw a light coming from under Valerie's door. I called out, 'Val!' and then I opened the door."

"Over her bed was a man. I was frozen for a moment. He was shining his flashlight in my face. Then I screamed."

Two days after her death, Valerie Percy was given a simple burial service. The chapel was adorned with pink roses, her favorite flower, and the body was cremated.

Percy took his family to a hideaway in Northern California, interrupting his campaign to unseat Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas. The blond, deep-voiced Republican hopeful returned to the campaign in late October.

There is a time to be born, a time to die, a time to dance and a time to mourn, a time to keep silent and a time to speak. Now is the time to speak," Percy said at his initial political outing following the murder.

He was an overwhelming victor in November and attracted attention as a potential GOP presidential candidate.

In December, Percy announced that Valerie's twin, Sharon, would marry the great-grandson of John D. Rockefeller.

"The fingerprints were all cleared," Eggert said. "The Rockefeller IV were married April 1 in the University of Chicago chapel. The bridegroom, a Democrat, was a newly elected member of the State House of Representatives in West Virginia."

In March, Robert Daley, chief of Kenilworth's 11-man police force in September when the village had the first murder in its history, was named village manager. His replacement was Sgt. William Sumner, 42, who, with Sgt. William Sumner, handled the investigation from the beginning.

Eggert and Sumner discussed the case Tuesday.

Worldwide Search
"We have checked out 1,153 leads," Eggert said. "In all, we have personally talked to about 8,000 persons in 48 states and five foreign countries—France, India, England, Africa and Canada."

"We have personally taken 439 finger and palm prints and given voluntary polygraph (lie detector) tests to 41 subjects."

"There are still 53 leads open. The FBI has helped on out-of-state leads and the Chicago police still hold the four latent palm prints and the other physical evidence."

The Chicago Crime Laboratory sifted 17 bags of physical evidence from the Percy home and grounds the morning of the murder.

"He didn't leave us a thing, except a body."

"We've never even established a motive," Sumner said.

Drug Company Head Defends Price Policies

Sen. Nelson Says Different Markets Are Charged More

WASHINGTON (AP)—A drug company president has defended his firm's pricing policies as reasonable and essential to pay for research.

But Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., challenged the wide differences he said are charged in different markets for the same drugs.

Charles T. Silloway, president of CIBA Pharmaceutical Corp., said the discount consumers get by purchasing prescriptions under chemical, or generic, instead of brand names is substantial "but nowhere near the ridiculous ratios which have been heard."

Silloway said the higher prices his firm charges stem from research, service and drug quality.

3 to 4 Times
Nelson said the company charges American pharmacists prices three to four times higher than those in effect abroad for an identical drug.

The specific drug they discussed is called Reserpine, sold by CIBA under the brand name Serpasil and used to treat high blood pressure.

Nelson said CIBA sells its brand of the drug to U.S. pharmacists for $39.70 per 1,000 tablets. He said that compares with overseas rates ranging from $11.09 in Bern, Switzerland, to $16 in Rio de Janeiro.

He also said the company sells the drug to the Veterans Administration for $1.10 and to the defense supply agency for 60 cents per 1,000 tablets.

Nelson said generic Reserpine is available to pharmacists at prices ranging from $1.30 to $1.90. But he said Serpasil is the drug mostly prescribed by doctors because of "the intensive advertising campaign" waged by CIBA.

"We are convinced the consumer gets his Reserpine prescription filled at a discount averaging about 45 per cent as compared with a Serpasil prescription," Silloway said. "A substantial discount to be sure but nowhere near the ridiculous ratios which have been heard."

Father Groppi to Speak Oct. 9 at WSU-O

OSHKOSH — The Rev. James Groppi, black minister, said the Rev. Mr. Groppi is scheduled to come Oct. 9 to Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh (WSU-O). The Rev. Groppi's speech was scheduled last May, before the verbal Milwaukee civil rights disturbances began. leader will speak for a religious as part of a three-day program on race presented by the University Christian Movement (UCM).

The Rev. Paul Treat II, a campus minister and an announced Democratic candidate for the 6th District Congressional seat, said Father Groppi was asked to speak because race is the crucial number one problem facing the nation and students need to be informed on it.

He also indicated that he believes the Roman Catholic priest will force Oshkosh people, who are removed from racial strife, to make a decision about the civil rights movement.

"Knows Black Mind"
Father Groppi, an assistant pastor at a core area church, has attracted national attention by leading a youth group in civil rights demonstrations for over a year. For the past few weeks he has led numerous demonstrations in support of an open housing ordinance.

School Leader Backs Bill for State Educational TV Council

MADISON — Wisconsin must act quickly to create a state educational television council or lose all chance to coordinate such programs and plan school curriculums, according to Angus Rothwell, executive director of the state Coordinating Committee for Higher Education.

Making his comments on a bill tightly locked in a state Assembly committee, Rothwell warned the plans and policies subcommittee that the growth and use of educational television broadcasting by elementary and secondary schools — as well as in higher education — continues despite the lack of state coordination.

To the extent that such programs are used, the person who decides on ETV programming controls the curriculums of the schools involved in the programs, he told the committee.

Educational television broadcasts are widely used in south-central, southeastern and northwestern Wisconsin, involving TV stations in Madison, Milwaukee and Duluth.

Packard St., and Marsha H. Behren, 802 N. Durkee St., both Appleton.

Contained in an Assembly proposal caught in the house state affairs committee is a suggestion calling for the creation of four state stations at a cost of $1.2 million. They would be situated in the Fox Valley, La Crosse, Wausau and Eau Claire areas.

An educational broadcasting board would be created replacing the existing state radio council, and made up of representatives of both public and private elementary and secondary education, state higher education and citizens.

Authors of the proposal include Assemblyman David Obey, D-Wausau, and Cletus Vanderperren, D-Green Bay.

Suggested in the Senate has been a lesser proposal calling for the creation of the supervisory council alone, without creation of a state television broadcasting system.

Catholic School Closes

SHERWOOD — There will be no classes Tuesday at Sacred Heart School, as the faculty will attend the diocesan teachers conference at Green Bay, and mass is scheduled at 7:30 a.m., a half hour earlier.

The new council, under the Senate proposition, would again study the calls for a state ETV system.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction William Kahl called the upper house proposal "the least dragging step we can take."

Educational television is meaningful to the learning process, he said, because "it helps to close the gap of time" in teaching.

Total Commitment
The system is being used in three areas of the state, Wisconsin's top public school leader said. "Need we wait much longer for a total commitment?" he asked.

The bill has been stalled by conservative claims that the system could be used for state or personal propaganda efforts.

The allegation was rejected by members of the subcommittee.

Wisconsin has had a long and successful radio experience of a similar nature, and no state program in the country has ever been accused of spreading propaganda, Rothwell said.

"We are getting it one way or another," said the executive director. "In Green Bay a whole private sector is developing," he said, referring to a program which airs educational broadcasts during time purchased from commercial channels.

"He who plans the programming, structures the curriculum" of participating schools, he warned.

Castroites Fail In Nicaragua

U. S. Trained Guerrillas
Keep Band of 50 on Move

By PAUL FINCH
MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Castroite guerrillas, urged on by Radio Havana, appear to be making a futile and costly attack on the new regime on Nicaragua's strongman president and five-star general, Anastasio "Tacho" Somoza.

Troops of the 6,000-man National Guard, trained by the U.S. Green Berets in Panama military bases, have killed at least 75 guerrillas since action began last month.

Somoza concedes the guerrillas also have suffered casualties in the skirmishes in the muddy mountains near Matagalpa, 65 miles north of Managua.

50 Men in Bands

Intelligence sources estimate the guerrilla strength at about 50 men organized in individual bands of four or five with automatic weapons. They move over terrain where they can be constantly in this season.

Nicaragua became the fifth Latin American country to confront guerrillas in 1967. Colombia, Cuba, and Venezuela have also gathered in Havana for a summer meeting of the Organization of Latin American Solidarity (OLAS).

But a spokesman for the Somoza regime says the National Guard knew the rebels were organizing as far back as November.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1961, Dag Hammarskjöld, secretary general of the United Nations, was killed in a plane crash in northern Rhodesia.

On this date: In 1793, President George Washington laid the cornerstone of the Capitol building in Washington.

In 1810, Chile declared itself independent of Spain.

In 1850, Congress passed the Fugitive Slave Act, permitting a slave-owner possessing a certificate of ownership to reclaim any slave who escaped into another state.

In 1851, the first issue of the New York Times was published.

In 1931, Japan began the military occupation of Manchuria.

In 1959, Nikita Khrushchev addressed the U.N. General Assembly and called for the disarmament of all nations within the next four years.

Ten years ago — West Germany raised its bank rate and Britain followed suit by raising its rate to the highest level since 1920.

Five years ago — the U.N. General Assembly admitted four newly independent nations: Rwanda, Burundi, Jamaica and Trinidad-Tobago, raising membership to 108.

One year ago — Valerie Percy, 21-year-old daughter of senator-to-be Charles Percy of Illinois, was killed in a savage knife attack in her bedroom.

Mumps Vaccine Given Following Skin Test

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I have heard talk for months about a "mumps vaccine." Is it just talk or has a vaccine been found that is in the testing stage?

In short, is there hope that we will soon be able to be immunized? Many grownups who never healed right and humps up, and I suffered a severe sprain about five years ago. Do these facts have any bearing? — Miss C.S.

I couldn't answer whether the "stupid" shoes will have to be worn indefinitely — but your orthopedist can. He doubtless expects the foot exercises to continue to bring improvement.

There isn't much that can be more aggravating than a chronically painful foot, and if he can make you feel better you aren't "wasting his time." By all means check with him from time to time. Or, better yet, ask him for an estimate of how soon you should see him again, barring any unexpected change which you should, in any case, tell him about. The other foot injuries could have some bearing on your discomfort.

Dear Dr. Molner: I heard a discussion on the radio about diabetes and a man said he read somewhere that one shot of insulin injected every four to six months, or some other medicine, was sufficient to last that length of time. Is there any truth in this? I take my insulin daily. — Mrs. H.B.

There is no medication for diabetes, insulin or anything else, that lasts for months. It needs to be taken daily, as you are doing.

The man on the radio may have been mistaken, or he may have been discussing some experimental work. Too often such information is disclosed prematurely, giving patients a wrong impression and false hopes.

Note to S.A.: Alopecia areata — that patchy form of baldness — may correct itself in time. Nerves or local infection of the scalp are usual causes. Treatment therefore is a matter of detecting the cause.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Post-Crescent for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

"Instant Money" is a Runyon-esque romp that employs the considerable talents of Don Adams and Sid Caesar. Although there is more of Danny than the others, there is, little juggling for the spotlight and the hour comes off as "the play's the thing." It is about a gambler whose wife is having a baby and who extracts from him a promise to stop betting as soon as the baby arrives. (C)

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

WHICH SCORE LOWER IN I.Q. TESTS? MEN WOMEN

Through the school years girls are apt to do better than boys in their grades — possibly because way we feel about women's role, men have more chances to use their brains than women do.

Should you squelch your children's lending habits?

Yes — No —

No. Youngsters enjoy lending their clothing and other belongings, and they like to borrow others' too. Interestingly enough, social researcher David Gottlieb's studies show that sharing belongings and popularity are highly correlated among adolescents. The popular youngster shares his things, and the fellow who lends his stuff is liked by the other kids. Of course, there is a limit, but perhaps parents should not be too strict about the old adage, "Neither a borrower nor a lender be."

Is brotherhood always good?

Yes — No —

No, say some psychologists. There is a concept of brotherhood that would sink all individual and personal differences in some common pot. What we need is individualism that recognizes and respects the individualism of others, but dares also to be different. Attempts to make everybody "buddy-buddy" with everybody else may destroy the creativity upon which social progress and individual worth ultimately depend.

Girls in Miniskirts Aid Lottery Sales

NEW YORK (AP) — To the surprise of hardly anyone, salesgirls in miniskirts proved to be quite a tonic for the lagging New York State Lottery sales.

"This is the first time I've bought one," said Edward Christman, "and the only reason I did it is because they're here and I'm here."

The state hired 20 young women in yellow miniskirts and blue stockings to hand out promotional material while 10 busy salesmen handled the tickets.

The entourage made nine stops throughout the city and everywhere they went people quickly lined up to buy the tickets. Lottery proceeds go to education.

Hippies Could be Danger on Colleges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Diseases may be carried by San Francisco's summer hippies to college campuses across the country, says Dr. Ellis D. Sox, city health director.

Many youngsters in the Haight-Ashbury district have contracted hepatitis and venereal disease, he said, and some may take jobs in college kitchens. Sox told a meeting of the California State Board of Health.

Golden Lion Awarded to 'Belle de Jour'

Shirley Knight, American, Captures Top Actress Honors

VENICE, Italy (AP) — "Belle de Jour"—Beautiful by Day—a French film by Spain's controversial director Luis Bunuel, won the Golden Lion award of the 28th Venice Film Festival.

The entry by the 66-year-old director outdistanced 14 other films in competition for the top award.

American actress Shirley Knight won the Volpi Cup for the best female performance for her portrayal of a white temptress who slays a Negro in the British film "Dutchman."

The Volpi Cup for best actor went to Ljubisa Samardzic of Yugoslavia for his part in the Yugoslav movie "Alba"—Dawn. "Dutchman" was based on a play by LeRoi Jones, an American Negro writer. Jones formerly headed the Black Arts Theater in New York City's Harlem, which presented antiwhite plays.

Controversial Event — Bunuel's film is the story of a jail and charged with public French surgeon's wife, played intoxication.

by France's Catherine Deneuve, who is beset with an insatiable sex urge. She spends daytimes in a brothel and returns home in the evenings for family life.

Some critics found it a delicately and expertly directed story. Others complained that it had no message.

The awards climaxed a controversial festival that emphasized new works and themes and excluded any official entry from the United States, the Soviet Union and Japan. Many in the movie circles complained that the festival's organizers seemed intent on sacrificing quality in order to shock and promote Socialist ideas. Others praised the organizers for rejecting mediocre films.

Tippler Undisturbed By Train Passing Over

CATLETTSBURG, Ky. (AP) — Two policemen were dispatched to Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad tracks near here after a train reportedly ran over a man.

But when Lt. E. H. Coffee and Patrolman Elbert Bell arrived Sunday night, they found Harvey Hopkins, 40, of Catlettsburg, alive and unharmed—not even a grease spot from the two diesel units and 40 cars.

Hopkins, still snoozing away, was awakened, taken to the city and charged with public intoxication.

Catch Bottle Caps on Wood Paddles for Hours of Fun

BY CAPPY DICK

The main parts of the game, which is today's fun-project for young readers, are a homemade paddle with scoring areas marked on it and a bottle cap. The paddle, shown in Figure 1, should be made of thin wood, although stout cardboard can be used as a substitute. Mark the scoring sections as shown.

FIG. 1

FIG. 3

Play 'Til You Miss

Place a bottle cap on the paddle and toss the cap into the air. Try to catch it on the paddle as it comes down. You score the point value of the area on which the cap lands (Figure 2).

If it falls from the paddle, or doesn't even touch the paddle as it descends, the player wins no points and must give up the paddle to the next player. On the other hand, if the cap lands squarely in a scoring area, he wins the value of that section.

If the cap lands with its scalloped edge down, the players win double the point value of the area.

If it lands so that part of the cap is in one scoring area and part in another (Figure 3), the player wins the sum of the two areas.

A player continues to toss the cap until he misses. It is then the next player's turn. The first player to win a total of 150 points wins the game.

Summer Returns for Neighborhood Picnic

Summer returned for a weekend that made picnic plans fun to carry out. In the Crestview subdivision, plans of several weeks' standing were completed, with the hearty aroma of frying steak and bratwurst and the joyful shouts of children making a glad complement to the sunny day.

The party, for all who live in the area, began at 4 p.m. There were refreshments for adults and children before family grills were set up and dinner started.

Later, there was touch football and several other impromptu games for the children.

Committee members were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Clausen, Mr. and Mrs. John Wurster and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Anderson.

Hot Dogs and Soda Pop kept the youngsters of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Anderson happy during their neighborhood picnic Sunday. Waiting for supper are Scott and Kerr. At left, dining informally but with enthusiasm, is Mary Beth Bradish, daughter of the John Bradishes. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Folding Cardtables made ideal picnic tables as families each brought their own supper to the neighborhood get-together. Above, Lynn Rietzner, Mrs. Harold Rietzner, David Kitzman and Kelly Kitzman share accommodations. Little Janet Rietzner is all but hidden on the folding chair. At right, after the ball during a football game, are Don Sprague and Jim Davis.

Pretty Lady Mayor Not Afraid to Ask

By CAROLE MARTIN Associated Press Writer
NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Patricia Q. Sheehan is one of America's youngest, prettiest and newest mayors. She is the first to latch onto a suggestion that one way to cool racial disorder is to turn National Guard armories into community centers.

The suggestion came from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey on July 25, following a series of riots. And on Saturday Humphrey will dedicate the New Brunswick armory as a civic recreational and night school hall, under lease to the city for $1 a year.

Early Initiation
Mrs. Sheehan, 32-year-old widow of three, has been in office only four months. Her initiation into the racial problem came July 19 when a fight between Negro and white youths blossomed into looting, window-breaking and arson.

New Brunswick's population of 40,000-odd is 15 per cent non-white.
At the height of the disorder, 100 young Negroes marched on the police station. Mrs. Sheehan met them and successfully pleaded: "Give us a chance. We've only been in office a short time." Today "Mayor Pat," as her associates call her, looks back on the two nights of vandalism as "a small disturbance, not very serious."

But she emphasizes "it is important that everyone recognize that problems in those areas exist and that they be solved."

'Not Ashamed to Ask'
Mrs. Sheehan says her administration doesn't know all the answers but "is not ashamed to ask for help."

New Jersey's Department of Community Affairs, set up this year to assist local governments with urban problems, calls Mrs. Sheehan "one of our top custom-ers."

Local organizations already have accepted Mrs. Sheehan's invitation that they take over rooms in the armory.

The Urban League of Greater New Brunswick, for instance, plans to conduct guidance classes at night for students and their parents in part of the armory, which had not been in use by the Guard for several years.

'Citizen Involvement'

"We're going to bother everybody in the community until we make this project work," said Mrs. Sheehan. "We're very much for citizen involvement."

Business and civic leaders are learning that the new administration will be calling on them for help frequently, and so far the response has been excellent. When the Sheehan administration pointed out the city's need for swimming facilities the business community underwrote the cost of five neighborhood swimming pools immediately.

Daniel M. Sheehan died at the age of 30 in 1961, 3 1/2 years after he married Patricia Queenan. They had courted in Washington, D.C., while he attended law school at Georgetown University. She worked as a junior labor economist for the Air Transport Association. Only a few months before his death, Sheehan had been appointed to fill an unexpired term on the City Commission here.

'Reform' State

George Shamy, one of her husband's law partners, urged Mrs. Sheehan to run for office as part of a five-member "reform" slate in the nonpartisan City Commission election last spring. The reform ticket pledged that whoever finished first in the balloting automatically would become mayor. Pat Sheehan finished first.

Being mayor of New Brunswick is a part-time job, but Mrs. Sheehan has found that the post is taking up much of the time she would like to be devoting to her children, Betsy, 9; Daniel, 8; and Michael, 6.
Although "it has been a little more difficult than I had imagined," Mrs. Sheehan has managed to juggle her roles as mayor, mother and breadwinner. She is a part-time worker for a pharmaceutical firm.

NEENAH — St. Patrick Catholic Church was the setting at 2 p.m. Saturday for the wedding of Miss Susan A. Pawlacyk and Thomas H. Burr. The Rev. Lambert Scanlan performed the double ring ceremony.
The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Pawlacyk.

Double Ring Ceremony Performed
The ceremony uniting Miss Wilson and Francis B. Sayre was held in the larger East Room, attended by droves of diplomats and dignitaries, while the Marine Band played in the foyer.

The most glittering White House wedding starred Alice Roosevelt, the witty, uninhibited, 22-year-old daughter of Theodore Roosevelt. On Feb. 17, 1906, she married Nicholas Longworth, balding 36-year-old Congressman from Ohio.
Trailing six yards of silver brocade, she marched into the East Room on her father's arm for a formal noon ceremony attended by a thousand American and European notables. Heads of state sent her lavish gifts, including a necklace of 63 matched pearls from the Republic of Cuba that was valued at $25,000.

Little Notice
No one took much public notice of the first White House wedding of a First Daughter. Press coverage, in its entirety, consisted of this sentence in the Washington Intelligencer of Saturday, March 11, 1920:
"Married: On Thursday evening last in this city by the Rev. Mr. Hawley, Samuel Lawrence Gouverneur, Esq., of New York, to Miss Maria Hester Monroe, youngest daughter of James Monroe, president of the United States."

Maria Monroe was 17 and Gouverneur was 28, her cousin, her father's secretary and a dashing man about town.
'Sole Effort'
Twenty-two years later, blonde Lizzie Tyler, 19, third daughter of President John Tyler, married William Waller of Virginia in the East Room in January, 1842. Her invalid mother, Letitia Tyler, made her sole effort as White House hostess at her daughter's reception.

Romantics of World Eagerly Await White House Wedding

BY JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP) — When a man with marriageable daughters becomes president of the United States the romantics of the world turn into dedicated beau-watchers. But for more than half a century they have hoped in vain for a White House wedding.

The Johnson girls, though, are changing all that.

Luci Baines at 18 got married to Patrick J. Nugent in August, 1966, in a Roman Catholic church. But the reception was held in the White House.

Now Lynda Bird Johnson's plans for a December wedding at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. should make the most diehard romantics happy.

Seventh Daughter Wed
When Lynda Bird, 23, weds Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, 28, she will be the seventh daughter of a president to marry in the White House.

You have to go back to May, 1914, for No. 6. She was Eleanor Randolph Wilson, 24, youngest of President Woodrow Wilson's three daughters, and she married Secretary of the Treasury William McAdoo in a quiet Blue Room ceremony. Only a few friends and relatives were invited because of the illness of the First Lady, Ellen Wilson, who died three months later.

In contrast with her sister's simple nuptials, Jessie Woodrow Wilson's wedding in November, 1913, was an elegant affair.

Band Played
The ceremony uniting Miss Wilson and Francis B. Sayre was held in the larger East Room, attended by droves of diplomats and dignitaries, while the Marine Band played in the foyer.

The most glittering White House wedding starred Alice Roosevelt, the witty, uninhibited, 22-year-old daughter of Theodore Roosevelt. On Feb. 17, 1906, she married Nicholas Longworth, balding 36-year-old Congressman from Ohio.

Kimberly-Clark May Sell Plant In California

$22.5 Million Price Set in Negotiations With New York Firm

Kimberly - Clark Corporation (K-C) today announced plans which may lead to the sale of one of its wholesale distribution divisions for an estimated $22.5 million.

Under terms of a final judgment entered May 11 by a federal court in San Francisco, the Neenah-based firm was ordered to divest itself of the Blake-Moffitt & Towne Division acquired in 1960.

Kimberly-Clark intends to sell the firm to Saxon Paper Corp., New York.

Sign Intent

In a joint announcement, officials of the two firms disclosed that Friday night they signed a letter of intent which may lead to the acquisition by Saxon, subject to the consummation of the Saxon financing plan.

Finalization of the multi-million dollar transaction encompasses the approval of the boards of directors of Kimberly-Clark and Saxon Paper, and satisfaction of various legal requirements by both parties.

Distributes Wholesale

The K-C division of Blake-Moffitt & Towne engages in the wholesale distribution of printing, business, industrial and produce paper products.

It operates 17 warehouse divisions and 10 district warehouses in the western part of the United States.

Litigation in the case — initiated by the Anti-Trust Division of the Justice Department — dates back to the early 1960's.

Realtors-UCS Cooperate

A community survey to determine the housing needs of Appleton's elderly will be launched late this week with an estimated 3,000 questionnaires to be distributed by Oct. 1.

The study is in conjunction with the city council's recent creation of a municipal housing authority with an eye toward providing low-cost public housing for older residents of the community on fixed, low incomes.

Information obtained from the survey, it being the age cut-off for public housing for the elderly, will be used for statistical purposes in compiling a final report and recommendations.

Groups Cooperate

Undertaking the survey is a special subcommittee of the research and planning division of United Community Services (UCS) in cooperation with the Appleton Chapter of the National Association of Retired Persons.

The questionnaires, which provide the type of information required before a decision can be made as to whether Appleton should enter the public housing field for the elderly, were drawn up by members of the UCS group.

Assistance was given in printing the forms and providing additional services by the Appleton Board of Realtors which has also expressed interest in whether or not there is a void in local housing for older persons.

Survey officials emphasized today that personal contacts will be made as much as possible in getting the forms filled out by eligible Appleton residents.

No Telephoning

"There will be no telephoning solicitation of information, whatsoever," a spokesman said.

The statement was made to warn the general public that unknown parties or groups in recent weeks have been conducting a telephone poll, calling elderly persons and asking them of their housing situations. The inference given is that the calls are part of the study.

Appleton's senior citizens were urged to disregard the calls and give information only when receiving a copy of the official survey questionnaire which is printed on United Community

COG Outlines 97-Acre Park-School Layout

Proposal Presented to Appleton Planners Is Considered Best Use of Langedyke Property

Parks and school facility sites would take up the 97 acres of city-owned Langedyke property, according to a general layout prepared by the Fox Valley Council of Governments.

It was reviewed today by Eugene Franchette, executive director, during a meeting of the Appleton Planning Commission.

The undeveloped land is north of Northland Avenue and west of Ballard Road.

Center High School

Proposed for location in about the center of the property, purchased by the city for future long-term use is a new senior high school, which would be Appleton's third.

The high school building site would be surrounded by athletic fields and two parking areas.

Remaining half of the property would be devoted to park and recreational use, such as a neighborhood park, adult recreation area and a large city park.

Franchette emphasized it was merely a general plan. However, in the judgment of the regional planners, it would represent the best use of the property.

Hold the Line Policy Urged on Neenah Taxes

Association Asks Limit on Spending Increase in Budget

NEENAH — A "hold the line" tax philosophy for 1968 has been urged for Neenah by the Neenah-Menasha Taxpayers Association.

Martin Kuether, president of the NMTA, said the association is urging the City of Neenah and the Neenah Board of Education, to limit spending increases for next year to the level offset by revenue increases from higher-assessed valuation in the city.

Based on the increase of $4.5 million in assessed valuation, this would be $120,000. Thus, Kuether said, represents 3.3 per cent of the tax base of the city.

"If a tax raise of substantial size is to be avoided," Kuether said, "the taxing bodies must keep to a spending increase of no more than the $120,000 in anticipated revenue from the base increase."

Tax History

The NMTA noted that between 1962 and 1966 the city's assessed valuation increased 16.3 per cent, or an average of about 4 per cent per year. However, during the same time taxes increased 43 per cent, or almost 11 per cent per year.

For this year alone there was approximately a 16 per cent increase in local taxes, Kuether said. Over the last four years, this has meant an additional $5 per $1,000 assessed valuation in taxes for the local property owner, he added.

Rich Taste

"Government must live within its resources to survive," the NMTA said. "Too rich a taste

Town of Algoma Warned To Create Sanitary District

OSHKOSH — Town of Menasha officials warned 100 residents of the Town of Algoma Saturday to form a sanitary district or be taken by the City of Oshkosh.

Roland Kampo, Town of Menasha chairman, and Robert L. Jacobs, Town of Menasha clerk, told the residents gathered at the Town of Algoma hall that only a sanitary district will prevent the city from annexing town property piece by piece.

A wide majority of those at the meeting passed a motion authorizing town officials to draw up tentative sanitary district boundaries.

Property owners inside the boundaries will meet Sept. 30 to decide whether an engineering study should be made the next step.

Kampo suggested that the Town of Algoma establish a sanitary district to include the commercial zoned property along U.S. 41 and the bulk of residential property nearby.

With foresight, he said, our sewage treatment plant could be built that would eventually handle all of the town as developed areas were added to the district.

Cites Menasha Example

"I venture to say that if you had a sanitary district Cops Department Store and Howard Johnson's would still be in the township," Kampo said.

Kampo said the Town of Menasha has experienced a rapid growth in commercial, industrial and residential building since its sanitary sewer system began operation in 1962.

Town of Algoma Chairman Floyd Shurbert said he called the meeting to brief townsmen on the responsibilities of forming their own sanitary district. He said the town board is neither for or against a sanitary district now, but the "time will come when the state may demand it."

Jacobs urged the residents to look ahead four years and decide "whether you are going to have a town or not."

When they heard that rapid growth would be a natural consequence of establishing a sanitary district in the Town of Algoma, several men and women objected.

One said, "Ninety per cent of the people here came because we wanted to live in the country."

Kampo answered, "If you want country life today and want to keep it, you have to live 10, 20 or 30 miles away from a city."

A 43-year-old Appleton woman was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by the fire department rescue squad after she took an overdose of sleeping pills at her home about 11:30 p.m. Sunday.

Police said they found the woman seated at a table, in a dazed condition. She reportedly had been despondent over a health problem.

Space Authority Calls for More U. S. Advances

Scientist Urges 'Hippie' Gospel for Space Age Endeavors

MADISON — Take the "Hippie" gospel and hitch it to the space age, Dr. Werner Von Braun recommended to Wisconsin youth attending Saturday's World Food Exposition at the Dane County Coliseum here.

Dr. Von Braun, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's space flight center in Huntsville, Ala., was the principal speaker at the first of two youth days during the ten-day exposition.

The second, next Saturday, will feature Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman and the First Lady, Mrs. Lyndon Johnson.

Saturday's crowd at mid-afternoon was estimated at 17,000. "Tune in" to space exploration, "turn on" scientific knowledge and "drop out" from those outmoded notions that would impare our scientific advancement, Dr. Von Braun advised.

"The 20th century is beginning to open the door of the universe since that it is open, let us begin to explore the mysteries of the universe, the shoreline of the future," he said.

Oshkosh Firemen in Blaze at Lumber Yard

OSHKOSH (AP) — University students pitched in to help firemen during the night with a blaze that swept through a lumber yard threatening homes in a residential area near the Oshkosh State University campus.

About 300 students cheered firefighters as flames were brought under control. Some students helped carry hoses. Fire damage was expected to be in five figures. Box cars, storage sheds, nearby dwellings and three garages were damaged.

Cause of the fire was not known.

Support Mounts for Proposal

Human Rights Council Urges Cities to Back Open Housing

Two major proposals to be considered here Thursday by the Alliance of Cities — a statewide open housing law and an increased share of state taxes for urban areas — gained support over the weekend.

There were these developments:

—The chairman of the board of the Fox Valley Human Rights Council took note of the pending Alliance meeting and said his group "went on record as strongly urging the mayors and representatives of our Fox Valley communities to support the proposal."

—U.S. Senator Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis.) said he supported a stiffer statewide housing law and an increased share of state taxes for Wisconsin's urban areas — the same proposal he made when governor.

Urged Law
The Alliance, made up of mayors and managers of 22 Wisconsin cities with an aggregate population of over 2 million — will give top priority to a proposal urging the Wisconsin Legislature to adopt a strong open housing law.

Representatives of Wisconsin's urban centers generally feel that a law enacted by the Wisconsin Legislature is the answer to fair housing, rather than having cities and counties enact their own ordinances, which could vary.

Appleton's Mayor George Buckley, who made arrangements for the day-long Alliance meeting at the Conway Motor Hotel, said he agrees with Mayor Otto Festge, Madison, Alliance president, that statewide legislation is the answer. "I will support the proposal to have the Legislature pass such a bill so the law is uniform in Wisconsin," Buckley said.

Full support for such a proposal came from William Herziger, Valley Human Rights Council chairman.

Encourage Council
Herziger, a Neenah school teacher, said the council was encouraged to learn the Alliance will consider recommending that the Legislature enact a statewide open housing act.

"Just as we would not condone only partial treatment of a curable disease, we cannot remain satisfied with our present legislation which meets a fraction of the need," Herziger said. "We must have such legislation now, not only for the effective cure of Milwaukee's problem, but as a prevention of a similar development in other Wisconsin cities," Herziger said.

"A patchwork of local answers is not the answer," he added. Herziger said he assumed the Alliance of Cities would take constructive action and brief all assemblymen on the urgency for adopting a statewide open housing law.

Broadly Based
The Human Rights Council is a citizen organization with members in Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Little Chute, Kimberly, Combined Locks and Kaukauna.

In a testimonial dinner speech in the Milwaukee area Saturday, Senator Nelson said he supported stiffer statewide open housing.

On the subject of revising state-shared tax formulas, for which the Alliance of Cities intends to push at Madison when the legislature reconvenes, Nelson said, "As governor I proposed increased tax distribution for high milk (property tax) areas and still consider them necessary."

The position taken by Nelson supported that of Mayor Henry Maier, Milwaukee, in an appearance last week in Madison at hearings of the Assembly's municipalities committee. Appleton officials sent a wire favoring new laws.

Minor Injuries Result From Neenah Mishap

OSHKOSH — A young Oshkosh couple escaped serious injury when the car they were riding in struck a tree off County Trunk S 4 miles west of Neenah. The car was a total wreck.

Gerald L. Haber, 31, the driver, and his wife, Lois, 28, were advised to see a doctor.

Winneshago County police reported that the car was headed west on County Trunk S when it left the road way and Haber lost control. The car veered to the right and struck a tree.

in the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture's marketing program.

Mr. and Mrs. Adm Reynolds, Aniwa, staffing the Wisconsin Maple Syrup Producers Council exhibit, were promoting a maple-flavored spread product which had been developed about five years ago, and reception to it the first two days was prompting a re-examination of its commercial sales value.

New maple syrup queen, Leila Hagen of Washington Island, was once a queen for the dairy industry.

The Wisconsin Honey Producers Association booth staffed by Peggy Sousek, Hortonville, Outagamie County's Honey Queen, was promoting use of honey as a topping on a "honey sundae." State Association officials were encouraged by the enthusiastic response to the promotion.

Mrs. Alice Onsrud, Verona, was promoting for the state's cherry producers. She is the daughter of Mrs. Ellen Richards, also of Verona, who was the first chaperon for Alice in Dairyland.

It seemed appropriate for Mrs. Onsrud to be serving a cherry delicacy to the present Alice, Miss Kristin Williams, who was making a tour of the educational exhibits.

Representatives of the major cattle breed organizations had booths at the show. Both the Holstein and Guernsey exhibits showed a young calf in an adjacent pen.

Serve Milk
Les Peckham, secretary of the Wisconsin Guernsey Breeders Association, earned the award for "one-upmanship" with a charming lass who dispensed cupful of that "golden Guernsey" milk to visitors.

Peckham has been a periodic visitor to the Fox Valley this year to assist in preparations for the state Guernsey convention in Appleton next February. Guernsey dairymen from Outagamie, Brown, Calumet, Shawano and Oconto counties are cooperating in the preparations.

Speakers at the exposition are focusing their attention on practical solutions to world hunger problems, and subjects range from farming the sea to economics, education, food distribution and nutrition.

Bays Overcome 17-Point Deficit to Deadlock Lions

Anderson, Grabowski, Pitts Reel Off Long Runs in Second-Half Comeback

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — It's okay, Daddy . . . you'll still be tied with Detroit for first place . . . This bit of consolation came from 8-year-old Bart Starr Jr. as the head of the house slowly peeled off jersey No. 15 in front of his green and gold cubicle in the Packers' spacious Lambeau Field dressing room late Sunday afternoon, left somewhat subdued in the wake of a 17-17 tie with the suddenly menacing Detroit Lions.

Although he accepted this optimistic appraisal in the spirit that it was intended, Bart Sr.

shook his head in tolerant but firm disagreement, reminding his son, "It's not good enough . . . you've got to win, sugar."

Four Interceptions

Seconds later, the press corps converged upon Mr. Quarterback and he dispatched his son in search of a soft drink while he graciously fielded questions for the fourth estate, although it must have been a trying interlude for the National Football League's reigning most valuable player, unhappy over being victimized by four interceptions in the first half after permitting only three in all of 1966.

The third of these misadventures was converted into a touchdown by Detroit rookie cornerback Lem Barney, who bounced up from the turf after making a diving catch in front of intended receiver Boyd Dowler and wheeled 24 yards to score.

This shocker, which came at 9:47 of the first quarter, not only shot the Pack's opportunistic guests into a 7-0 lead but triggered a series of untoward events which, incredibly enough, left the world champions in arrears by a decidedly uncomfortable 17-0 at the intermission.

The Packers rebounded from those early misfortunes with sufficient ammunition, largely dint of a 43-yard Donny Anderson, a 54-yard Starr to Jim Grabowski screen pass maneuver, and an 84-yard Starr collaboration with Elijah Pitts in the second half to escape defeat.

In fact they appeared en route to victory in the closing seconds when Starr hit Dowler with a 13-yard first down pass on Detroit's 38, setting the stage for a Hollywood finish with the score deadlocked at 17-17 but time ran out before the home forces could get over the ball.

Third Stalemate

This somewhat anti-climactic development left a capacity gathering to 50,861 customers with jaws slightly agape — and the combatants with only the third stalemate in their 68-game series, the first since 1958 when they struggled to a 13-13 standoff on the same soil.

But, they also emerged in a tie for first place in the newly-created Central Division of the NFL — because their fellow members, the Chicago Bears

Peters Blanks Twins; Tigers And Red Sox Also Lose

BY DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Too much fun in the middle of the American League pennant delirium to take notice of the St. Louis Cardinals who've made a play-off scramble of the traditional off somewhere along the way, down-to-the-wire National League race this season, as after his streaking White Sox sure themselves of a tie for the blanked Minnesota 4-0 behind pennant Sunday by nipping Cincinnati 3-2 while second place charged within one-half game of San Francisco was losing to the league-leading Detroit 5-4.

Now, St. Louis can wrap it all up by defeating the Philadelphia Phillies. The Giants added "There's no way to avoid are idle today so it will take a playoff. We just hope that Cardinal victory to end it."

Enormous Collapse

Stanky has promised that if they fail tonight, there's "this race will keep football off Tuesday or Wednesday. Page One all month." Sunday, Only an enormous collapse can the pennant derby collided head-to-head prevent the Cardinals from winning with a full schedule of promising it all to tie, the Giants football action for the first time would have to win all their remaining 13 games while St. Louis would have to lose its last 12 straight. Don't bet on it.

While Peters' four-hitter completed a three-game sweep over the Twins and ran the White Sox' winning string to five for a 4-3 victory over New York 3-2, Detroit and Boston both Philadelphia fumbled Los Angeles' four opportunities to get 6-1 and Chicago topped gain ground.

Trips up Tigers

Sixth-place Washington shouted Bob Gibson in the happy-tripped up the Tigers 5-0 behind by Cardinal dressing room after Frank Bertana's clutch pitch-the Cards had brushed past the ring and eighth-place Baltimore Red Sox.

Julian Javier drove in two runs with a single cauping a Boston third fell into a third-three-run fourth inning. Quickest 8 Seconds I've Ever Seen, Says Packers' Lombardi

Official Says Time Had Elapsed When Dowler Went Out of Bounds

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — Inches, eight seconds I've ever seen in my life. But you let it ask out in 12 as spokesman for the officials. This was a game of one yard and eight seconds. The quickest eight seconds I've ever seen in my life," as Packer Coach Vince Lombardi described it.

He had reference to the final play of Sunday's National Football League opener in Lambeau Field. There were eight seconds on the clock when quarterback took the ball out of bounds and Bari Starr took the snap and then stopping his clock. In this tied a pass to Boyd Dowler on case when he looked at the line east sideline. The play was clock after stopping it the time designed to get field goal post and clapped.

End of game 17 to 17.

Bit of Feelings

Earlier, though the officials thought a bit of Lombardi's feelings. Trudging in from the field, the coach paused before entering the Packer dressing room to stick his head into the officials' dressing room and short. "You guys sure make us look like great coaches."

The conditions under which Dowler did catch the ball and get out of bounds were a bit crowded but Boyd said that though somebody touched him right after he caught the ball, his quick progress over the sideline was not impeded.

I knew what the scoreboard said and I knew I had to get out of bounds for us to have a chance," he somberly reported. I thought I did get out in time but evidently I didn't."

Actually, however, two situations. Turn to Page 5, Col. 1.

Gabriel Sparks Rams To Win Over Saints

By BEN THOMAS
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A 13-yard touchdown run to put the Rams out front to stay. Stunned by a 94-yard run with against the Saints in the fourth quarter put the Rams in scoring position once again and Les Johnson hauled in a 15-yard victory over the Saints in a National Football League Opener down and the final 27-13 margin for both teams.

Gilliam scored for New Orleans and Charlie Durkee converted to give the Saints a 7-0 lead before the frenzied crowd of 80,879 — a sellout — was fully seated.

The Rams went ahead with one second left in the first half 13-10 on a two-yard run by quarterback Roman Gabriel. Gabriel threw to Bernie Casey for 48 yards; and on the next play hit Casey for 20 yards, then carried it over himself on the following play.

Last 8 Seconds Were Quick, Says Lombardi

tions involving approximately one yard of turf each also played major roles in this upset of sorts.

The first was an onside kick by the Lions that led directly to a Wayne Walker field goal from 47 yards away. Lem Barney had just engineered the third in a startling succession of interceptions off Bart Starr and turned it into Detroit's first touchdown. Walker then dribbled the kickoff to his left and Bruce Maher raced to recover the leather on the Packer 49. That meant the ball had made the required 10 yards distance for it to become free by a single yard.

Get Another
Lion Coach Jae Schmidt admitted it was a "gamble" but added, "We figured if we got a quick score, we might come back with it and get another." He said he signaled Walker to try the onside kick when he was sure the Packers were lining up with just three men up front and the second wave between the 30 and 35.

Four plays later, Walker's kick sailed over the bar. In the second instance, Schmidt acknowledged that he considered gambling for a moment but changed his mind. That was when the Lions came up with fourth down and one, actually less than one, on the Packer 47 with 4:30 left in the game.

"If it had been inches, I'd probably have gone for it," he said. "But it looked more like a yard and a half to me."

Thus Pat Studstill was called on to punt and the Packers converted the kick into the tying three points via Don Chandler's 28 yard field goal after Elijah Pitts' spectacular 84-yard dash with a Starr pass.

Schmidt, at 35-year-old the youngest head coach in the league, sounded almost like Lombardi in discussing his team's rejuvenation.

"A lot of people thought we had an awful team last year," he said. "So we came to camp this year determined to get our pride and respect back. I think we got it."

Lombardi also seemed more inclined to talk about the Lions than his own Packers, though he noted, "we came back in the second half. We played poor in the first half and didn't do much better in the second half but we made some big plays."

But, changing avenues, he then declared, "Give Detroit credit. They ran hard. It's a coming football club. They were spirited."

Hustled More
"They have a new coach and they hustled more than any Detroit team I've seen in years. Every time the Packers lose, they played lousy. Give the other team some credit."

Actually, of course, the Packers didn't "lose." Neither did the Lions, but you couldn't have determined this from the mood in either dressing room. "It was disappointing," the the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee-chested Schmidt, just waukee 21-0. Carol beat Milton two years removed from the 36-7; and St. Thomas defeat St. active playing ranks, said, lak-Norbert 12-7.

ing particular note of his team's 17-0 halftime lead. "But don't forget, this is supposed to be the champions of the world. That means something too."

Congratulations on a fine game were offered to him but he shook them off unsmilingly. "Congratulations are only in order when you win. We should have won."

Somebody told him that Lombardi had said the Packers were fortunate to have come out with a tie.

And Schmidt commented, "I'd agree."

Hold Browns to Minus 5 Yards Rushing in 21-14 Win

Cowboys End Cleveland Stadium Jinx

By LOU MIO
CLEVELAND (AP) — "Our front four did a great job," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "They penetrated and got their hands up. That's just what they were supposed to do."

It also just about sums up what happened Sunday as the Cowboys beat the Cleveland Browns 21-14 before 81,039 in the National Football League opener for both clubs.

The Cowboys, defending Eastern Conference champs, held last season's top NFL rushing team to minus five yards. No team has done that to Cleveland in 17 seasons, at least to anybody's recollection.

It was the first Dallas victory in eight tries at Municipal Stadium.

Landry's front four of George Andrie, Willie Townes, Jethro Pugh and Bob Lilly, spent much of the afternoon rubbing face masks with Browns' quarterback Frank Ryan.

Ryan was bothered by a sprained ankle, but Coach Blanton Collier said "he doesn't want to use it as an excuse."

Beban Paces UCLA's Win

Runs 27 Yards With 4:00 Left To Tip Tennessee

B-E-B-A-N spells victory. If the UCLA Pom-Pom girls used the above as a cheer at Bruin football games, you could hardly blame them. After all, senior quarterback Gary Beban has meant victory for UCLA on most Saturdays during the past two seasons. and he shows little sign of quit- ting the habit this year.

With about four minutes left in the game Saturday, Beban Bruin football games, you rolled out and raced 27 yards for a touchdown, giving the eighth-ranked Bruins a 20-16 victory over No. 9 Tennessee.

Beban, who also scored during the past two seasons, UCLA's other touchdown, got a lot of help from Gregg Jones as he outduled Tennessee quarter-back Dewey Warren.

Steelers Roll To 41-13 Win Over Chicago

Pittsburgh Holds Gale Sayers to 2 Yards Rushing

PITTSBURGH (AP) — How's it feel to lead your team in rushing and in touchdowns, then find yourself dumped from the line-up even before the next training camp begins?

"I was upset," said fullback Bill Asbury of the Pittsburgh Steelers. "You don't like to be told that you're starting off second when you were first last year."

Asbury, the National Football League's No. 13 rusher last season, figured to play second fiddle when Pittsburgh traded for Earl Gros of the Philadelphia Eagles.

But Gros suffered a knee injury and underwent surgery, and Asbury, who never really yielded his position, stayed in the starting line-up.

Sunday he rushed for 107 yards, scored two touchdowns and set up another to lead the Steelers to a 41-13 pasting of the Chicago Bears in the season opener for both clubs.

"I read a lot of stories before I came back," Asbury said. "I knew it was going to be a good contest between Earl and I. I've been working hard, especially on my blocking.

"I think it's coming around. I always knew I could run. I'm not the fastest man on this team but I'm not the slowest either."

Asbury's 72-yard gallop that set up a two-yard scoring plunge by Charlie Bevins was the longest run by a Steeler in at least three years.

"Gros has made Asbury a better football player," said Coach Bill Austin, insisting he never intended to give Asbury's job away.

"Its made things more competitive. We worked on a lot of things that Asbury did not do well. Gros' presence made him work harder. And remember we didn't have Asbury in camp with us last year.

"If he keeps playing like he has, Gros might have trouble getting back. But I'd like to have more problems like that," Austin added.

More One-Sided

The game was more one-sided then the 41-13 score indicates. The Steelers controlled the ball for 72 plays to 35 for Chicago and outgained the Bears 393 yards to 95.

Gale Sayers, the NFL's top rusher last year, was held to two yards in seven carries, though he did run back a kickoff 103 yards to score.

"He just had a bad day," said Coach George Halas of Chicago. "Everybody's entitled to them."

The Bears, who had only six first downs, crossed midfield but twice and didn't get past the Steelers' 42 until the closing moments.

Austin said it was the best game the Steelers had played in his two years as coach.

Rallies to Beat George Archer At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—After he had won the $110,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic Sunday, Dan Sikes Jr. was asked what he thought of his putting during the 72-hole tournament.

"My putter," said the 36-year-old golfer who forsook the practice of law for the golf course, "is just a little bit behind my wife in my esteem."

Sikes charged from a four-stroke deficit at the start of the final round to overtake tall George Archer, the ex-cowboy from Gilroy, Calif. Sikes won by two strokes with a 72-hole, 12-under par total of 276.

Four Under Par

Sikes shot a final round 34-34—68, four under par, on the Whitemarsh Valley Country Club's par 36-36—72 course.

Behind Sikes and Archer came Billy Casper, Bob Charles and Mason Rudolph, deadlocked at eight-under-par 280.

Arnold Palmer, who finally shook his putting miseries for a two-under 35-33—68 Sunday, finished at 282 along with Miller Barber, Wayne Yates, Bobby Nichols and Jim Colbert.

Doug Sanders, Jack Crawford, Tom Weiskopf and Chuck Courtney were at 283. Gary Player wound up at 290 and British Open champion Roberto de Vicenzo had 287.

California Democrats Badly Divided Group

Jesse Unruh Faction Pulls Away From
LBJ, Inclines Toward Robert Kennedy

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

SAN DIEGO, Calif. Today's private views and backstage maneuvers of Jesse Unruh, the shrewd and powerful speaker of the California state assembly, can only increase political unease in the White House.

Novak Evans

Once considered President Johnson's most important ally in California, Unruh is off the LBJ standard. He now sees Mr. Johnson's presence on the 1968 ballot menacing continued Democratic control of the assembly, has quietly moved from "hawk" to "dove" on Vietnam, and has renewed his old alliance in tatters a year ago -- with Senator Robert F. Kennedy.

More important than what he thinks is what Unruh is doing: quietly sounding out opinion about forming an uncommitted, Unruh-led delegation of office-holders -- dominated by congressmen and legislators -- to All that brings them together today in secret negotiations is Unruh's new coolness toward the President.

While not designed for any quixotic attempt to dump the President, the tone of the Unruh delegation definitely would be last month when Unruh boycotted less than friendly to Mr. Johnson and to the Vietnam war.

LBJ Prospects Bad

Formation, much less election, of such a delegation is far from realization. That Unruh is even considering this scheme, however, fulfills our forecast from California in June that the President's prospects in the nation's most populous state would get much worse before they got better.

The divisive state of California's Democrats is best seen in maneuverings over the national convention delegation. The White House's hopes for a unity delegation led by state Attorney General Thomas Lynch are fading. Former Governor Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, Unruh's bitter factional foe, is increasingly insistent on leading the delegation. A peace delegation virulently anti-LBJ in tone will be entered in next June's primary election. A right-wing delegation pledged to George Wallace is being formed.

If superimposed on this mess, Democratic national committeeman and Pat Brown's most effective ally, Even a personal plea from Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, a comrade of Unruh's in the 1960 Kennedy campaign, could not convince the speaker to attend.

Unruh wanted no close association with the party's Brown-stream, as was seen at the recent meeting of the state Democratic executive committee. His lieutenants advised that tee at the Del Coronado Hotel Unruh wanted to keep himself outside San Diego. With fewer Democratic assemblymen physically separated from a party Wyman delivered a peppery paired.

Boycotts Conference

That coolness was apparent in the 1968 Democratic national convention.

ted the Western States Democratic conference intended to sing the praises of Lyndon B. Johnson. While losing Unruh, the White House has gained Wyman. Although he has had his problems with political indifference at the White House and Democratic national committee, Wyman has now made his total commitment to the President and is Mr. Johnson's most ardent supporter in this state.

Wyman Has Praise

But Wyman is swimming upstream, as was seen at the recent meeting of the state Democratic executive committee. His lieutenants advised that tee at the Del Coronado Hotel Unruh wanted to keep himself outside San Diego. With fewer Democratic assemblymen physically separated from a party Wyman delivered a peppery paired.

speech praising the Johnson administration and (reflecting current White House thinking) inviting peacenik dissidents to leave the party if they don't like it.

These were the first and last words spoken in the President's behalf. State Chairman Charles Warren, rambling on endlessly, ignored Mr. Johnson. Industrialist Martin Stone, vice chairman of the party's new advisory committee, delivered a withering blast at the President's Vietnam policies.

Indeed, aside from Wyman, the only prominent Democrat here openly cheering the President is maverick Sam Yorty, of Los Angeles. But Yorty is a passionate blood enemy of Wyman, and a close ally of Unruh, reflecting the chambered complexity inside California's Democratic party. It fairly defies any effort to assemble an LBJ coalition one year before the presidential campaign.

Would $2,388 in hospital-medical bills worry you?

Complicated illnesses like the kind that struck Mrs. Orville Thomas can mean long periods of hospital and medical care.

And bills, bills, bills. In this case, bills totaling exactly $2,388.25.

Fortunately, the Thomases didn't have to worry about that. For Blue Cross and Blue Shield paid exactly $2,388.25. All hospital and doctor bills paid in full!

Mrs. Thomas's illness was complicated — but Blue Cross and Blue Shield service wasn't. As Mr. Thomas, an employee of Brown County, sees it . . .

"When hospital and doctor care become necessary, it's sure good to know Blue Cross and Blue Shield are there, ready to help. Blue Cross paid the entire charge for all those long days in the hospital. And Blue Shield paid my wife's entire doctor bill. Our claims were handled swiftly, effectively, with no paper-work or forms to file. I'm convinced that you cannot buy better protection than Blue Cross and Blue Shield."

Hurricane Aims at Texas Coast

Beulah Thrashes Around in Gulf of Mexico at 105 m.p.h.

Doria Loses Most of Power, Still Could be Threat to U.S.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Killer Hurricane Beulah turned slightly toward this tip-of-Texas town early today and gained new force on a slow northwesterly march across the boiling Gulf of Mexico.

The Weather Bureau at New Orleans said the big storm was slowing down somewhat in the warm Gulf waters and was expected to take a turn tonight to a more northwesterly direction.

It was still too early to tell if Beulah would continue on to the coast of Texas. A slight early morning turn, however, brought Beulah on a line toward Brownsville.

Gales Near Coast

At 8 a.m. CDT the Weather Bureau put the center of Beulah about 400 miles southeast of Brownsville at latitude 22.2 north longitude 92.8 west.

The storm had 105 mile an hour winds near the center, with hurricane winds extending out 40 miles. Gale winds neared the Gulf Coastal areas, extending 250 miles to the north and 100 miles south of the center.

The Weather Bureau said Beulah "is expected to continue toward the west-northwest at a slightly slower rate of speed for the next 12 hours. Indications are that Beulah will gradually turn to a more northwesterly course later today or tonight."

"Beulah is expected to increase yet more in intensity during the next 12 to 4 hours," the National Hurricane Center in New Orleans said. "The conditions appear favorable for Beulah to become a severe hurricane within 24 hours."

With its forward speed expected to remain about 12 m.p.h. or possibly slow a bit, Beulah seemed unlikely to reach land again before mid-morning Tuesday.

Its west-northwest course pointed the storm's center a little below Brownsville toward the coast of Mexico.

Last week Beulah claimed 13 lives in the eastern Caribbean.

There were unconfirmed reports that four more died in Mexico as 65 m.p.h. winds felled a stone church steeple at Tizimin, 80 miles east of Progreso on the northern Yucatan Peninsula.

Flooding routed thousands from homes near the coast in Mexico. About 5,000 were evacuated Saturday from Progreso and Telchac to Meridian, state capital of Yucatan.

Broken communications made it difficult to assess the destruction wrought as Beulah smashed at the Yucatan Peninsula and Cozumel. Peak winds dwindled from 125 to 75 m.p.h. while the storm was boiling across this land mass.

Forty per cent of the buildings on Cozumel were said to have been destroyed, with beachside hotels particularly hard hit.

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — immediate threat to any land Doria, once a hurricane but now but was racing eastward across a tropical depression, drifted the North Atlantic at 35 miles per hour.

Today, But the Weather Bureau warned she could regain strength in southern waters and again pose a threat to the U.S. mainland.

Her highest winds were 30 miles an hour in a few squalls. It packed 95 m.p.h. winds when it threatened the Maryland-Delaware-Virginia coast over the weekend but they had subsided to 30 m.p.h. when she finally struck land in North Carolina.

The storm was located about 320 miles east-southeast of Charleston at latitude 31.5 north, longitude 74.5 west.

Hurricane Chloé, packing 95 mile-an-hour winds, posed no threat.

Jets Hit 7 Miles From Red China

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force F4 Phantoms hit a highway bridge just one minute away—at their supersonic speeds—from Red China's border Sunday in the war's closest strike yet to the border.

The pilots said their bombs knocked out the center span of the That Khe highway bridge seven miles from China and 92 miles north-northeast of Hanoi. The closest previous raid to China's border was 10 miles away Aug. 13.

Navy pilots flew follow-up missions against three targets inside Hanoi, apparently trying to cut rail and road arteries carrying supplies out of the North Vietnamese port city to Communist troops fighting in South Vietnam.

Hit Other Targets

Skyhawk jets unloaded 500-, 1,000- and 2,000-pound bombs on a railroad and highway bridge just one mile west of the city's center. They also hit a rail yard 1.7 miles from the center and a warehouse complex 1.3 miles from its center. Those targets were hit for the first time a week ago.

Clearing weather over the North enabled Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots to fly 109 missions, most directed against targets in the heavily defended area around Hanoi and Haiphong.

One plane was reported lost. The strikes emphasized the air war policy of keeping maximum pressure on Hanoi during the remaining three or four weeks of favorable weather before the monsoons.

B52s Unload

In and slightly north of the demilitarized zone that separates the two Vietnams, high-altitude B52 bombers unloaded more than 450,000 pounds of bombs in three sweeps over suspected Red infiltration sites.

In South Vietnam, a Marine force of about 1,000 men went inland Saturday some 20 miles below Da Nang, the U.S. Command reported today, and Sunday's air strikes cost another U.S. plane, the 679th Air Force RF4C Phantom reconnaissance jet went down to Communist ground fire. The two crewmen were reported missing.

North Vietnam claimed four U.S. warplanes were shot down, including three near Haiphong. U.S. headquarters made no mention of these but has a policy of withholding the announcement of plane losses during rescue attempts.

Red China broadcast a claim that a Red air force unit downed a pilotless U.S. reconnaissance plane Sunday over China's Kwangsi Province bordering North Vietnam.

41 Killed in Turkey

Rioting Follows Fight At Soccer Stadium

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Rioting broke out in the central city of Sivas today over a soccer rivalry that resulted in 41 deaths in a stadium riot Sunday in Kayseri.

Police reported screaming mobs in Sivas burned down seven stores and a hotel owned by residents of Kayseri. The two cities are 125 miles apart.

Provincial police called in the local army garrison to put down the riot.

In the Sunday riot, fans from Sivas objected to a home team goal in the soccer game at Kayseri Stadium. Stones went flying and panicky spectators stampeded for the exits.

Most From Sivas

Police in Sivas could not estimate the size of the mob, saying rioters moved constantly through different parts of the city of 100,000 residents.

The rioting broke out after reports from Kayseri indicated that most of the dead in the Sunday riot were soccer fans from Sivas.

An estimated 5,000 Sivas fans had traveled to Kayseri for the minor league soccer game between the two cities.

No players or referees in the minor league match between Sivas and Kayseri were hurt.

Officials said the toll of injured stood at 65, six in serious condition. Unofficial tallies, however, put the number of fatalities at more than 50 and that of injured in the hundreds.

The state minister in charge of sports affairs threatened to suspend all games in that league if necessary and take other stringent measures to prevent more riots.

Minister of Interior Faruk Sukan and Health Minister Dr. Vedat Ali Ozkan were heading an extensive investigation of the events which broke out during the match.

School Could Open In Detroit Tuesday

Leaders of Teachers Union Vote to Accept New Contract

DETROIT (AP) — Union leaders voted unanimously today to accept a proposal that could send some 300,000 Detroit public school pupils back to school Tuesday.

The tentative agreement was reached in a nightlong bargaining session between negotiators for the Detroit Federation of Teachers (DFT) and the Detroit Board of Education. It must be approved by the teachers, however, before the schools can re-open.

DFT President Mary Ellen Riordan told some 3,000 teachers at a ratification meeting today that the vote would be taken as soon as the proposed contract terms had been mimeographed for distribution.

"I'm not going to ask you to vote on something you know nothing about," Mrs. Riordan told the crowd.

The Detroit school board said, however, the proposal called for an $850 across-the-board annual increase for two years and a 39-week school year.

The present school year is 40 weeks, and the teachers had demanded that it be cut to 35 weeks.

9.35 Million Cost
Peter Grylls, chairman of the board's financial committee, told newsmen the package would cost $9.35 million a year. "It's a little early to make a final decision on where the money is coming from," he said.

Grylls said the board would depend on the state to make up what otherwise will be an $8 million deficit if the contract goes into effect.

Scientist Urges 'Hippie' Gospel for Space Age Endeavors

MADISON — Take the "Hippie" gospel and hitch it to the space age. Dr. Wernher Von Braun recommended to Wisconsin youth attending Saturday's World Food Exposition at the Dane County Coliseum here.

Dr. Von Braun, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's space flight center in Huntsville, Ala., was the principal speaker at the first of two youth days during the ten-day exposition.

The second next Saturday will feature Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman and the First Lady Mrs. Lyndon Johnson.

Saturday's crowd at mid-afternoon was estimated at 17,000. Tune in to space exploration turn on scientific knowledge and drop out from those outmoded notions that would impair our scientific advancement. Dr. Von Braun advised.

The 20th century is beginning to open the door of the universe. Now that it is open let us begin to explore the mysteries of the universe the shoreline of the future," he said.

Cost Defended

Von Braun defended the cost of the space program at a time when other domestic bills appear in need of government financial assistance. He said the program had significantly contributed to the growth of the gross national product and helped expand science and industry and thereby enhance the government's income from taxes.

He felt the space program would continue to develop more income so the government could support both space and domestic needs.

He noted that England had taken the opposite course after World War II turned to social programs at the expense of the scientific advancements — and now has reached the state where it can afford neither.

He said the United States must get off the cycle of providing relief food shipments since they serve only as a temporary stopgap and often discourage local farmers in those countries from producing more. Rather, he said, we must encourage better use of feed and fertilizer, for instance, and harness the space possibilities to help improve food shortages.

Appleton to Make 'Last' Try For $100,000 From County

City Will Ask Board Wednesday For College Avenue Funds

Appleton officials will appear yesterday that previously the before the Outagamie County City Board Wednesday to seek allo-cation of $100,000 in highway funds to be applied to defraying the cost of College Avenue reconstruction.

Members of the city council's street sanitation committee met at the city hall Friday afternoon, decided to take the action which they described as a "last ditch attempt to get copy of the county highway department budget."

Earlier in the week County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler Appleton wrote Mayor George Buckley he and the county highway committee had decided Appleton would not get the $100,000.

At the same time Esler said the city had been under a misconception of fact and that College Avenue was not eligible for federal funds.

Verbal Commitment

In meetings with Esler and members of the highway committee and county board's executive committee over the past year — city officials received a verbal commitment that the $100,000 would be made available in June.

City officials have charged that the 47-member county board has not been kept informed on city-county matters and lay the blame to a small group headed by Esler.

By next week's meeting the city intends to send a letter of explanation to every member of the county board and then have Ald. Roy Pointer (14th) street-sanitation committee chairman and others appear to answer questions county supervisors might have.

Pointer told the committee
